COURSE DESCRIPTION:

From Catalog at: <http://catalog.kennesaw.edu/index.php?catoid=38>. This course examines the major themes in the social, cultural, political, and economic history of the United States since 1877, the multicultural nature of contemporary U.S. civilization, and the nation’s role in the global arena.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: The main objective of this course is to present a broad overview of American history from the late 19th century to the present. Class materials include a textbook to provide a general narrative account of American history and a supplemental reader to provide alternative viewpoints of the time period. The class will explore traditional political, military, and diplomatic history as well as social, cultural, and economic themes. Because of the scope of the time period covered, class lectures will be general in scope. However, outside readings, class discussions, and video excerpts will provide more in-depth coverage and analysis of specific historical themes and events. It is crucial, therefore, that the assigned reading will be completed before class.

HIST 2111/HIST 2112 satisfies one of Kennesaw State University’s general education program requirements. It addresses the U.S. PERSPECTIVES general education learning outcome(s). The learning outcome states: Students identify the historical, political, social, or institutional developments of the United States. For more information about KSU’s General Education program requirements and associated learning outcomes, please visit the course catalog.

Reading assignments are an essential component of the course material. You will be responsible for all content from the assigned readings on tests and papers. If you do not read carefully and consistently during the semester, you will struggle in this class. I highly recommend taking notes, highlighting, etc. in your textbooks.

ATTENDANCE POLICY: Students are solely responsible for managing their enrollment status in a class; nonattendance does not constitute a withdrawal. Attendance is regulated by the University's policy found in the University catalog.

- Regular class attendance is a course requirement, and I expect students to arrive to class prepared and on time.
- Attendance will be taken at each class meeting. To receive credit for being "present," a student must be in class for more than half of the class period and must have signed the class roll. Failure to do either will result in a student be marked "absent."
- Students may miss up to FOUR classes without penalty. Each absence over four will result in a one-point deduction from the student's final semester grade per absence. There are NO excused absences. No exceptions!

ELECTRONIC DEVICES POLICY: Technology can be a powerful tool to enhance learning and understanding, provided that it is use appropriately.

- You may use laptops, iPads, tablets, etc. for taking notes and doing in-class work. They may not be used for checking email, social media, gaming, etc.
- Cell phones should be turned off and put away at all times during class. Additionally, headphones, ear plugs, and any other listening devices are prohibited. Students may not use recording devices of any kind.
- All electronic devices are absolutely prohibited in the classroom during a test. There should be no cell phones, iPads, ear plugs, etc. on your desk. Any student who violates this policy will receive a grade of F for the test. THERE WILL BE NO WARNINGS!

GRADING SCALE

Students are evaluated on the following scale:

- A - (90-100)
- B - (80-89)
- C - (70-79)
- D - (60-69)
- F - (below 60)

I—Indicates an incomplete grade for the course, and will be awarded only when the student has done satisfactory work up to the last two weeks of the semester, but for nonacademic reasons beyond his/her control is unable to meet the full requirements of the course. Incomplete grades are only valid after submission of the Incomplete Grade form (signed by both the instructor and student) to the Department Chair's office.

STATEMENT OF PROFESSIONAL COURTESY: The only successful learning experience occurs when there is an environment of mutual respect between students and the instructor. Along those lines, I expect both common courtesy and honesty from you in your dealings with me. In return, you should expect the same from me.

- Arrive on time and wait until class is actually over before gathering up your materials to leave. Please let me know in advance if you know that you will arrive late or have to leave early. Late arrivals and early exits are very distracting to me and the other students.
- Consult the syllabus and D2L regularly. Everything that you need for the class can be found on D2L. Asking me a question that you can easily find yourself makes a very poor impression.
- If you email me, communicate in the same way that you would face-to-face. Professionalism is not something you only use in a job. Even better, talk to me in person rather than by email.
- Do not waste your time “grade-grubbing.” Show up to class, do the work, and you won't have to. I am VERY aware that your grade matters.
- In my first year to teaching, I had student ask me how they could do well in my class. My answer all these years later is the same as it was then: “read, listen, think, and prepare!”
- Critical feedback from the instructor is your best friend. I make the effort to grade your work and provide feedback because I care about my students and want to help them fulfill their potential. So, please accept my comments in the spirit in which they are offered.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY STATEMENT: Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as published in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs. Section 5. C of the Student Code of Conduct addresses the university's policy on academic honesty, including provisions regarding plagiarism and cheating, unauthorized access to university materials, misrepresentation/falsification of university records or academic work, malicious removal, retention, or destruction of library materials, malicious/intentional misuse of computer facilities and/or services, and misuse of student identification cards. Incidents of alleged academic misconduct will be handled through the established procedures of the Department of Student Conduct and Academic Integrity (SCAI), which includes either an "informal" resolution by a faculty member, resulting in a grade adjustment, or a formal hearing procedure, which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct's minimum one semester suspension requirement. See the full KSU Codes of Conduct.

Students suspected of violating the KSU statement of Academic Honesty will meet with the instructor to discuss the violation AND will be reported to the Department of Student Conduct according to the process outlined at the following link: <https://web.kennesaw.edu/scai/content/scai-misconduct-procedures>.

ADA COMPLIANCE: Students with qualifying disabilities under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and/or Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act who require "reasonable accommodation(s)" to complete the course may request those from Department of Student Success Services. Students requiring such accommodations are required to work with the University's Department of Student Success Services rather than engaging in this discussion with individual faculty members or academic departments. If, after reviewing the course syllabus, a student anticipates or should have anticipated a need for accommodation, he or she must submit documentation requesting an accommodation and permitting time for a determination prior to submitting assignments or taking course quizzes or exams. Students may not request retroactive accommodation for needs that were or should have been foreseeable. Students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations. For more information please visit their website, <http://sds.kennesaw.edu/>

Responsive Writing Requirements

- As a requirement for the course, you will complete SIX writing assignments based on course readings and selected videos that you will view outside of class time.
- I will average the grades on your responsive writings and that score will count as 25% of your final average for the class.

- Each responsive writing must be a MINIMUM two type, double-spaced pages. Many students find that they can and want to write much more.
 - Use 12-point Times Roman as your font. Each page should be a minimum of 250 words, 500 total words for the paper.
 - If your paper fails to meet the minimum requirements or you complete the wrong assignment, you will receive a 0 for the assignment.
- You SHOULD NOT AND CANNOT do any outside research to complete these assignments. Papers will be subject to originality analysis by Turnitin.com. If Turnitin.com shows that you have included outside resources, then you will receive a 0% for that paper.

Submission Process

- You will submit the six responsive writings in the appropriate folder in the D2L “Assignments” feature.
 - If you use the Pages program on a Mac, please submit your work as a PDF or Word document. D2L will not read a Pages doc.
 - I will post your grades and my comments through D2L.

Paper Format

- Page 1:
 - Head the page “Summary.” Because you are submitting electronically, you do not need a formal heading with your name, my name, the class, etc. Just put the heading at the top and begin writing.
 - On this page, you should summarize the general content of the reading or video. You need to demonstrate to me that you have read/watched the assigned content in its entirety.
- Page 2:
 - Head the page “Analysis.”
 - On this page, I am asking you to provide some analysis or a reflection on what you have read or watched. For example, you could discuss how the chapter/video engaged you in some unanticipated way or enhanced your understanding of the topic, or you can come up with some kind of broad analytical question pertaining to the chapter/video.
 - I will be looking for reflection and insight from you on this portion of the assignment, not more general summary.

Grading Rubric for Responsive Writings:

The content and clarity of your writing will be assessed on each of the writing assignments.
