Chinese teachers go to UK

In a unique experiment, five teachers from China take over the education of 50 teenagers in a Hampshire school to see whether the high-ranking Chinese education system can teach Britain a lesson. Will the harsh regime of long days and strict discipline produce superior students? Or will the clash of two cultures create chaos in the classroom? After four weeks, the Chinese and British systems will go head to head with the whole year group taking exams to see which teaching style gets the best results. Day one of the experiment proves a shock for everyone, and there are tears when the teenagers discover just how competitive the Chinese teachers expect them to be. A BBC Production.

Preschools in China, Japan, and the United States

https://kennesaw.kanopy.com/video/preschool-three-cultures-revisited

Twenty-four years after Tobin’s landmark study of international early childhood education, Tobin, Hsueh, and Karasawa invite readers to join a diachronic investigation—one exploring change and continuity across space and time—into how historic, economic, political, social, and demographic forces have shaped early childhood education systems in China, Japan, and the United States. An enticing sequel to the 1985 book, _Preschool in Three Cultures Revisited_ longitudinally examines preschools across cultures and illuminates what has changed, what has stayed the same, and why.
