Program Description

Join us for the 7th annual Psychology in Peru program. The program is open to all majors., You will tour colonial Lima, the Peruvian Amazonia rain forest, Cusco, the heart of the Incan empire, the Sacred Valley of the Incas, and the lost city of Machu Picchu, a Wonder of the World. Along the way, you will participate in two community service projects and earn six credit hours in psychology

The program is a 15-day, once-in-a-lifetime educational, service-learning, and cross-cultural experience. You visit the colonial Spanish capitol city of Lima for ten days, Amazonia for three days, and explore the Andes for five days as we travel in the footsteps of the Incas along the Inca Trail through the Sacred Valley. Our exploration of Incan/Peruvian culture begins in Lima at the Pacific Ocean, exploring an ancient pyramid structure pre-dating the Inca civilization. We then head to Amazonia and the Peruvian rainforest where we will travel two hours by boat to our remote riverside lodge to observe native wildlife and view incredible fauna and flora for three days. You will hike rainforest trails, paddle river inlets, and visit Monkey Island to interact and feed a variety of monkeys that will snatch bananas right out of your hands. The Incan capital of Cusco is your next stepping-off point as you traverse the Sacred Valley touring major archaeological sites, and shopping in open-air markets for handmade crafts, such as fine alpaca products and silver jewelry. At the end of the Incan trail, we arrive at the mountaintop holy city of Machu Picchu, a Wonder of the World.
